

Arteco Announces Launch of ARTECO MAPS

St. Louis, MO – Arteco, the industry leader in single-platform Video Event Management Software (VEMS) products for the security industry, is pleased to announce the launch of ARTECO MAPS, the new innovative feature set available with ARTECO-LOGIC Next.

The dynamic, multi-level Mapping feature changes the way users approach their security environment by delivering complete situational awareness for video security, fire, access control, perimeter detection and automation on one common interface.

This innovative feature allows users to: arrange and locate all devices on the map, customize the presentation of each device, activate live camera previews, control and monitor building automation devices in real-time, and one-click launch programs or web-browsers directly from the map.

“ARTECO MAPS is a clear example of our focus on moving Video Management software to Video Event Management Software,” said Steve Birkmeier, Vice President of ARTECO Global, “this innovative feature-set gives users a new approach to situational awareness from multiple security and automation devices.”

With ARTECO Maps, users gain control of the security environment with easy to understand representations of all devices at any time on one single platform. The new innovative feature set is included in the ARTECO-SERVER Enterprise version and is now available in the ARTECO-SERVER Professional version (upgrade required).
